NOW MORE THAN EVER

WHY THE 2026 PARTNERS IN COMMUNITY FORESTRY CONFERENCE IS A MUST-ATTEND EVENT

Increasing pressure on local infrastructure. Growing demands for livable communities. Heightened interest in the benefits of green spaces. Community forests have never been more important. In St. Louis, Missouri, the 2026 Partners in Community Forestry Conference will bring together professionals from across the country who are committed to strengthening communities through the power of trees.

This is more than a conference; it's a chance to shape the future of urban and community landscapes through collaboration, innovation, and action.

DATE

WHAT YOU'LL GAIN BY ATTENDING

Professional Development with Purpose

Earn International Society of Arboriculture Continuing Education Units (CEUs) in several domains, including arboriculture, science, and management. Sessions are designed to equip you with the tools, data, and strategies to lead change in your community.

The Full Week Experience

Arrive early for pre-conference sessions and networking. Monday's events dive into specific tools, approaches, or place-based examples. Tuesday's specialized partner-led gatherings connect people in similar fields for focused conversation and peer problem-solving. On Wednesday and Thursday, the full community convenes for the Partners in Community Forestry Conference.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

If you're working in — or adjacent to — urban forestry, this conference is for you:

- Community foresters and municipal leaders
- Utility professionals and city planners
- Educators and campus sustainability staff
- Healthcare and public health professionals
- Environmental nonprofits and community advocates
- Researchers and students
- Corporate sustainability and ESG leaders

Unmatched Networking Across Sectors

Meet with leaders from municipalities, nonprofits, utilities, health organizations, universities, and private industry. Forge new partnerships, share your work, and get inspired by what's happening across the country — and beyond.

Hands-On Tours and Workshops

See community forestry in action. Choose the excursion or workshop that's right for you, and learn from the people directly involved in increasing the canopy across the St. Louis region.

INVEST IN THE FUTURE AND YOUR ROLE IN IT

The future of our cities is being written today, and community forests are on every page. Join us at the 2026 Partners in Community Forestry Conference and be part of a growing movement that's changing how communities grow, heal, and thrive.
