TOASTMASTERS INTERNATIONAL is a non-profit, non-partisan, non-sectarian, educational organization of Toastmasters clubs throughout the free world.

The Toastmasters programs provide opportunities to develop skill in listening, thinking, and speaking, and in leadership by participating in a series of oral communications projects with constructive evaluation, leadership experiences, and community programs. These and many other opportunities to develop executive potential are presented in the fellowship of an organized group of men — the Toastmasters club.

Each club is a member of Toastmasters International. The club and its members receive services, supplies, and continuing guidance from the World Headquarters, Santa Ana, California 92711.

DON'T GET CAUGHT—District 38 Governor Francis E. Swiacki tells what your club can do to avoid the “summer slump” when members seem to vanish during the vacation season. There are many activities your club can schedule to counteract this typical seasonal vexation. See page 7.

HOGTIE THE YOUNGUNS AND GO . . .— Your 39th International convention in Portland, Ore., August 10-13, will be conducted in a western frontier style that'll jog yer memory for years to come. Let's slap leather in Portland, pardner. Bring yer woman and all the young'uns. See page 13.

LOOKING FOR A VACATION SITE? — There's some beautiful country around Portland, Ore., that will make your vacation one of the most memorable. Plan to attend your International convention in Portland, August 10-13, and tour Oregon and southern Washington. It's beautiful. See page 16.

LAST CHANCE. ALL ABOARD FOR HAWAII — Reservations for the Toastmasters post-convention tour to Hawaii must be made prior to July 10. Don't miss this opportunity. See page 24. Also check the announcement about special savings on air fare only for Toastmasters. See page 28.

WOMEN APPROVE OF IT — Past District 49 Governor John Y. C. Mow, ATM, reports what women think of their husbands' Toastmasters training. He ties in the significance of the wives' approval with the club standard of excellence in maintaining effective Toastmasters training. See page 30.

Outlook '70

It's Better To Be A Toastmaster

Abe Lincoln once said, “Better to remain silent and be thought a fool, than to speak out and remove all doubt.”

That might be true for some people, but certainly not for Toastmasters. You and I became Toastmasters to prove that we are not fools. Within each of us there is a multitude of ideas which should not be said in a foolish manner.

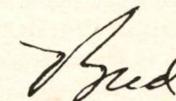

This is our task, and it is not an easy one. It takes work. The achievement of the goals of each of us depends mainly upon our ability to communicate what we want, what we are willing to work for, and what we can offer in return.

If you want nothing, Abe's statement should be your rule of life. But, it's better to be a Toastmaster. We want something, and we've set out to get it.

Each time we speak we should practice the Toastmaster ideals which are moving us closer to our goals. We must communicate our ideas in the best possible form so that we are easily understood by our listeners.

Our ideas must not sound like those of a fool. They should be thoroughly documented and researched. Not only must our listeners understand our ideas, they also must understand us. They must understand that, when we speak, we know exactly what we are discussing.

Anyone can talk. Toastmasters speak with documented facts and supported opinions. Let your listeners know that your opinions are not foolishly plucked from thin air, but are based on your life's experience and knowledge.

International President Ralph E. Howland

Educational Happenings For

“How do I convert from Basic Training to the Communication and Leadership Program manual?” This is a question that is frequently asked of World Headquarters.

Dr. Robert T. Oliver, the author of your Communication and Leadership Program and Advanced Communication and Leadership Program manuals, urged at the 1969 International convention that each Toastmaster participate in both manuals whether or not he had completed any or all of the previous member programs.

All Toastmasters who are switching from Basic Training to Communication and Leadership Program are encouraged to begin with the project “Your First Communicative Challenge — Establish Your Purpose” and continue through both of the new manuals. This procedure will help you fulfill one of your primary reasons for joining Toastmasters — to improve your communication and leadership abilities.

All The Major Projects

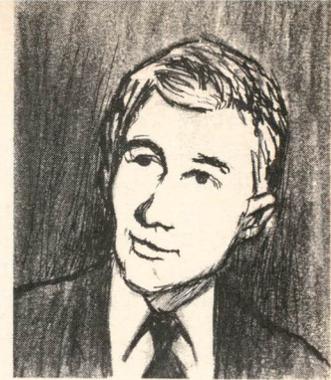

The new manuals include all of the major projects contained in Basic Training, The Advanced Speaker and Leadership Through Speech plus a great deal more!

You will find that the techniques and concepts of the projects in your Communication and Leadership Program manuals are cumulative. In the previous program each project stood alone, and it was up to you to put your earlier experience to use when doing the next project.

Another important benefit of your participation in the new manuals is their integrated, more in-depth, evaluation guides. They call forth audience feedback and emphasize, to a much greater degree, speech content and the impact of your speech on the audience.

The benefits of these three major experiences make it imperative that each Toastmaster participates in this exciting, new program by accomplishing each of the projects.

You and Your Club

The second speech project in Basic Training is included as a part of the Communication and Leadership Program manual's speech project entitled “Your First Communicative Challenge — Establish Your Purpose.”

“Your Third Communicative Challenge — The Principle of Reality,” you will find, incorporates the Basic Training manual's “Organize Your Speech” project. Moving on, “Under Observation: Say It As Though You Mean It” and “Vocal Realism: Understanding Your Voice” provide you a greater experience than the old “Hands Up” and “Vocal Variety” projects, while the new “Your Second Communicative Challenge— Respond to What Listeners Want” covers the old “Develop Your Speech” and more.

Some Of The Old, Much Of The New

“How to Make Words Work for You” uses the Basic Training manual's project “Work With Words” as a point of departure, and “How to Make Your Speech Memorable” includes the old “Illuminate Your Speech” project.

Also, the Basic Training “Read Your Speech” project is part of the Advanced Communication and Leadership Program manual's project entitled “The Written Speech.”

“Step by Step Toward Success” replaces “Special Types of Speech,” while “The Well-Constructed Speech” is an improved “Construct Your Speech.”

You will find also that “The First Milestone” is now the more sophisticated “How to Make Your Speech Challenging.”

Four of the projects in Communication and Leadership Program—“Diction, Dialect and Enunciation,” “How to Clarify Your Meaning,” “How to Be More Persuasive,” and “How to Make Your Speech Interesting" — were not included in Basic Training but were added to the new program in an effort to better meet your needs.

As you can see, not only are all of the Basic Training projects included in the new manuals but there is a greater opportunity for you to gain many new experiences. This is why you are encouraged to accomplish each of the Communication and Leadership Program projects rather than ignore them because you have completed something "similar" in Basic Training.

Although some of the projects in Advanced Communication and Leadership Program are similar to the projects in The Advanced Speaker and Leadership Through Speech, here again you will gain a great deal more by accomplishing all of the projects in the new advanced program.

Project Identification

World Headquarters has received a number of requests to number the projects in the new manuals when they are reprinted. This is why they weren't:

All of us have attended Toastmasters club meetings and heard the Toastmaster of the Meeting introduce the prepared speakers by saying something like, "Bill will be giving his No. 4 speech." Unfortunately, most of us couldn't remember the purpose of the No. 4 project, and the Toastmaster of the Meeting couldn't remember either.

Therefore, none of us knew the purpose of the speech, and we couldn't decide if Bill had accomplished it; we were not prepared to offer Bill any additional "feedback" after the meeting.

In some instances, the speaker remembered only the number of the project he had recently completed, so he merely gave a talk for the next numbered project (without reading about the project or its purpose).

Knowing the purpose of each project is extremely important to all members. Each speaker should make sure that the Toastmaster of the Meeting knows the purpose of the speech to be presented. This will insure that the audience is prepared to listen effectively and will be able to provide the speaker an effective evaluation.

Don't cheat yourself or your fellow members by going the "numbers route." Use the project titles in your club bulletin and on the club program schedule, and urge the Toastmaster who introduces you to provide the best setting and most attentive audience possible when you are scheduled to speak.

By FRANCIS E. SWIACKI

Summer's almost here and those long-awaited vacations are just around the corner. But we all know what summertime can mean to our Toastmasters club meetings: attendance dwindles away to almost nothing!

Does that sound familiar? How is your club going to handle the summer slump this year?

Unfortunately, if it appears that only a few members will be able to attend summertime meetings, there still are a few clubs that think it's better to shut down from June to September. Is this what's going to happen in your club?

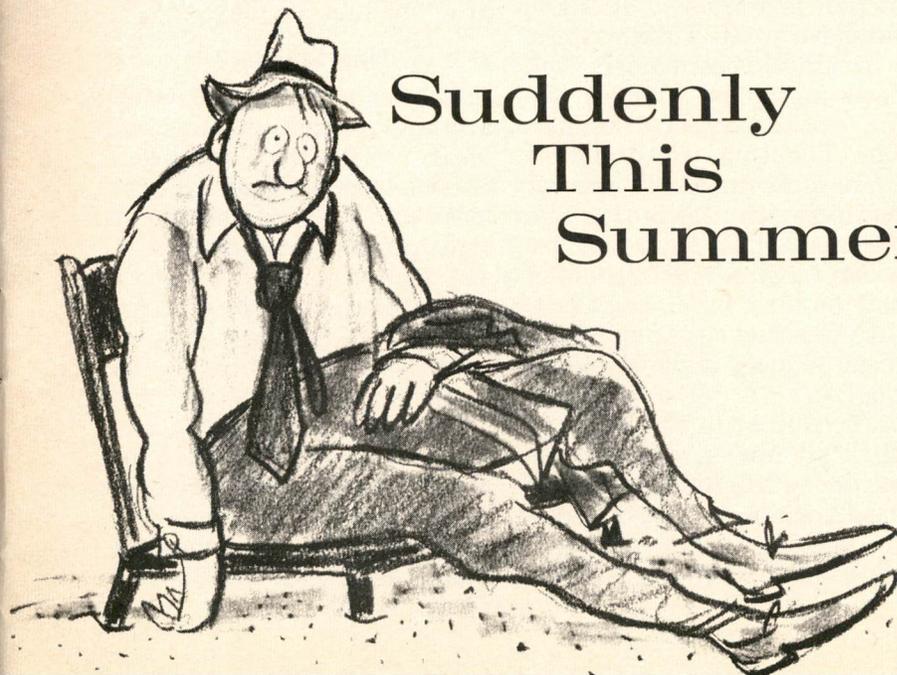

If it does, you aren't getting as much as you should from your Toastmasters membership. You're getting a very low return on the investment of your time, effort, and money, and you aren't getting ahead as a "man on the move."

Toastmasters clubs don't really have to close down for the summer — nor should they!

Your club can circumvent the summer slump by applying ingenuity and imagination to its club programming. To get you started, here are a few ideas that have been successful in keeping other clubs and members "on the move." Try them out!

Suddenly This Summer

An area governor in District 38 combines the membership of the six clubs in his area and conducts regular meetings throughout the summer. About 40 Toastmasters and guests attend these meetings and enjoy the exchange of ideas.

The activities of this combined group are as good as any individual club's, and this testifies to the fact that Toastmasters need not be dormant during the summer.

An Annual Project

The combined group and its program have become an annual project in District 38, and an invitation to attend is extended to all Toastmasters.

Another Toastmasters club hosts an annual summer picnic for the members' families. The Toastmasters conduct their club meeting without sacrificing the festivities of a summer holiday, and they are never accused of "running out" on their families. In fact, the wives and children remind them of their summer obligation!

If your club is endowed with members who possess barbecue talents and equipment, plan a backyard barbecue meeting! A hot grille, sizzling steaks, and cool refreshments can be a welcomed innovation to your club meeting.

The culinary skills involved in an outdoor meeting have never produced a dull speaker or a sharp-tongued evaluator, and this type of meeting usually adjourns only when the charcoal embers dim.

Summertime can be a productive period in your communication and leadership development. One enterprising Toastmaster compiles a list of clubs that meet during the summer and attends their meetings during May, June, July, and August.

His experience last summer earned him credit for five communication-manual projects; this is truly an example of a "man on the move."

New Ideas???

If your club can't develop any new summer meeting ideas, use the tried and proven Toastmasters International methods. For instance, joint club meetings are invaluable, and your area governor can assist you in scheduling enough joint meetings to carry your club through the summer months.

Another idea is the exchange of speakers and evaluators between clubs. This is an adventuresome opportunity, one which Toastmasters should never pass up. Visit as many Toastmasters clubs as the summer months permit!

Anything is better than a summer slump.

Visualize the lethargic regrouping of your club after it has suffered through the summer doldrums:

The continuity of the programming has been broken.

Loose ends must be tied together.

Club and member-momentum will not return to the Toastmasters standard of excellence for at least three meetings.

Membership drives are nonexistent.

Guest invitations are forgotten.

The club teeters between getting back in the "groove" and dropping dead within the month.

Any idea that will avoid the summer slump is worth the effort to maintain your Toastmasters standard of excellence. Challenge your fellow club members to sidestep this slump with programs and activities that will maintain your momentum.

Have a grand summer! Have a great vacation! But keep "on the move" as a Toastmaster!

To Aid Drug Addicts

Several months of work with narcotics addicts at the Clinical Research Center, Fort Worth, Tex., by members of Southwesterners Club 862-25 in Fort Worth has produced a Gavel Club composed of patients of the center who intend to speak against drug addiction.

Good News

TI and the members of S.E.C. Rough Riders Club 1876-46 in New York, N.Y., received photographic and news coverage in an article that appeared in "The New York Times."

Club On The Move

In tallying its 1969 achievements, Picatinny Club 3547-46 of Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N.J., found it had gained six new members, conducted its first Youth Leadership Program, presented a Community Contact Team program for the military headquarters detachment at the Picatinny Arsenal, and registered two YLP classes and its first Speechcraft course. The club also was among the first 10 clubs to submit its semiannual report to World Headquarters and was among the earliest to report its 1970 club officers.

Makes It Official

The article about the TI program in the April issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, was read into the U.S. Congressional Record (Circ., 48,000) by Congressman Craig Hosmer, California 32nd Congressional District, Long Beach. Congressman Hosmer prefaced the article by stating that "... one of the most relevant organizations ... today is Toastmasters International".

Town of the Month

The selection of New London, Conn., as Toastmasters Town of the Month for May resulted in Connecticut Governor John N. Dempsey's statewide proclamation of Toastmasters Week May 3 to May 9. The president and educational vice-president of New London Club 1782-53 also were interviewed on radio station WTIC, and the New London mayor proclaimed May as Toastmasters Month.

MOVIN' WEST... TO YOUR 39th INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION

Your 39th International convention theme, "SUCCESS IS . . .," captures the education emphasis, but bring your western duds, boots, and spurs with you to Portland, August 10-13, for the "Frontier Western Whirl" and get caught up in the convention fun. Bring your wife and young ones. They'll have as much fun as you.

Exciting new educational programs at the convention, coupled with fun-packed social and recreational activities, await you and your family at the convention. It promises to be one of the most successful get-togethers in Toastmasters history.

The roundup of educational programs and presentations—including videotape demonstrations, a speed-reading program, the introduction of TI's new Speechcraft program, the introduction of the new club manual Patterns in Programming, and the impact of interpersonal communication—are designed for you to take back to your club and assist in expanding its standard of excellence in educational programming.

The convention occurs at the ideal time of the year to plan your vacation and take advantage of the post-convention tour to Hawaii.

There's also plenty of things to do around the countryside, and yer little critters are welcome at the "swimmin' hole" right at the hotel, as well as an activities room for Toastmasters' young'uns.

Here's a tentative schedule of events that's gonna go on at the convention:

Sunday, August 9:

Arrive a day before the convention starts and check in at the convention registration desk and hospitality room at the hotel. Sunday night, enjoy hoopin' and hollerin' at the Proxy Prowl. All yer friends will be there.

Monday, August 10.

The colorful and excitin' opening ceremonies of the convention begin at 9:30 a.m. The 234th Army Band of the Oregon National Guard and the Color Guard from the Oregon Military Officer Candidate School will officially open the program.

Then be there to hear the annual reports of TI activities for the past year from International President Ralph E. Howland and Executive Director Robert T. Buck Engle.

Lunchtime activities will feature the District Governors' Luncheon and the introduction of the 1970-71 district governors. This gala affair also features the recognition of the 1969-70 Distinguished District Governors.

After lunch, the World Headquarters staff will present a panel discussion about WHQ services. Next, a panel of the Distinguished District Governors will discuss "district resources." This'll be followed by Hall of Fame recognition for District Area Governors of the Year and the District Outstanding Toastmasters of the Year.

At 3:15 p.m., International officers and board committee chairmen will form a panel to discuss TI policies and programs.

At 4:30 p.m., a special three-hour period has been provided for you to meet the candidates for International offices and board directorships. The remainder of the evening is open for you to enjoy the Portland hospitality.

Tuesday, August 11:

Bright and early at 9:00 a.m. is the annual business meeting and the election of officers. This session is expected to last until lunchtime.

The annual Idea Fair will open at 1:45 p.m. with an educational center and exchange of ideas for your club, area, and district programs. TI's new Speechcraft program will be introduced at 3:15 p.m. by Dr. Frank E. X. Dance of the University of Wisconsin.

The "Frontier Western Whirl" is the featured activity Tuesday evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m. with a reception and entertainment, and it will be followed by dinner and dancing—a western shindy you won't forget.

Entertainment for this sparkling social event will be provided by the famed New Oregon Singers and the Jerry VanHoomissen Combo.

Wednesday, August 12:

Instead of chasing cattle thieves today, aim yourself toward the many educational programs and take part in the videotape demonstrations; see the presentation of Patterns in Programming, a new manual for club programming; see Dr. Alvin A. Goldberg present "The Speaker—To One and Many," a program of interpersonal communication; and participate with David L. Schmidt in his presentation of "Reading to Remember," a program of nonverbal communication for effective speed reading.

Also see the introduction of TI's new Distinguished Club Plan and the announcement of the 1969-70 Top Ten Clubs, the Top Ten Club Bulletins, and the Top Ten District Bulletins.

This evening at 6:30 p.m. is the gala President's Dinner Dance with entertainment enjoyed by cityfolk and hillfolk alike. Dance to the music of the Jerry VanHoomissen Orchestra.

Thursday, August 13:

The final day of the convention features the annual Hall of Fame Breakfast at 8:15 a.m., and the International Speech Contest. There will be awards for participants in the speech contest, the President's Program, and the Member Educational Program.

There, pardner. If you're husky enough to take all that, then you're a real wranglin' Toastmaster.

PRE-REGISTRATION DEADLINE JUNE 25

June 25 is the deadline for advance registration for the 39th International convention in Portland, Ore., August 10-13.

Your convention pre-registration form is on page 29. (Registration will be required for your attendance at any of the general sessions of the convention.)

Also, be sure to make your hotel reservations early. See the form on page 21. Hotel room reservations deadline is July 15.

Vacation Wonderland Surrounds TI Convention Site

Toastmasters attending TI's 39th International convention in Portland, Ore., August 10-13 might decide to spend their vacation with their families in the beautiful land of Oregon and Washington.

A vast array of contrasts await you and your family within a short distance from the convention city. From the peaks of Oregon's Mt. Hood and Washington's Mt. Rainier down to hundreds of miles of sprawling beaches, the countryside surrounding Portland is a vacationer's paradise.

The Columbia River is the western border between Oregon and Washington. The colossal scale and grandeur of the Columbia Gorge is a few minutes' drive from the City of Portland.

You can visit the Bonneville Dam, the biggest and most spectacular power-developing unit on the Columbia River. The $150-million dam was built by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Nearby is the Bonneville Fish Hatchery, one of the biggest salmon hatcheries in the world.

The Big River

The Columbia River supports one of Portland's main industries — on an average of once every five hours a large ocean-going vessel steams into the Portland harbor to load or discharge cargo. More than 1,700 ships from more than 20 nations enter the Portland harbor each year. Dock and port facilities on each side of the Willamette River are estimated to be valued in excess of $225-million. Portland is second only to Los Angeles, Calif., as the busiest world port on the West Coast.

Mt. Hood, standing at a height of 11,245 feet, is practically in Portland's backyard. Oregon's tallest mountain stands as a majestic backdrop for the TI convention site. The massive mountain is well laced with trails, tows, and lifts.

Oregon's 400 miles of Pacific Ocean shoreline, combined with Washington's several hundred miles of seacoast, offer Toastmasters attending the convention a myriad of opportunities for fun, recreation, and relaxation.

Southern Oregon, by itself, is an exciting land of contrasting beauty. You can see Shakespearean drama presented in an authentic setting at the annual Oregon Shakespearean Festival at Ashland. Or you can seek out old western towns dating back to the historic gold rush days.

Pan For Gold

Southern Oregon is the place where you and your family still can pan for gold. It also offers a rich land of well-kept orchards and farmlands, thriving cities, and big timber. Here you can see the famous Rogue River and the 100 valleys of the Umpqua.

Central Oregon is high, wide, and handsome country with everything to lure the outdoor vacationer. It is a land of spectacular mountains, lava beds and formations, clear lakes, rushing streams, and tall waterfalls.

Enjoy your holiday and visit central Oregon! You can hunt for petrified wood, fossils, and semi-precious stones in areas noted for such abundance, and you can enjoy clean-air country hikes, picnic, western trail riding, or water sports.

Southeastern Oregon is filled with wildlife and geologic wonders. Crater Lake National Park is a must for sightseers. This incredibly blue lake is nearly 2,000 feet deep and is set in a crater formed by the collapse of a prehistoric volcano.

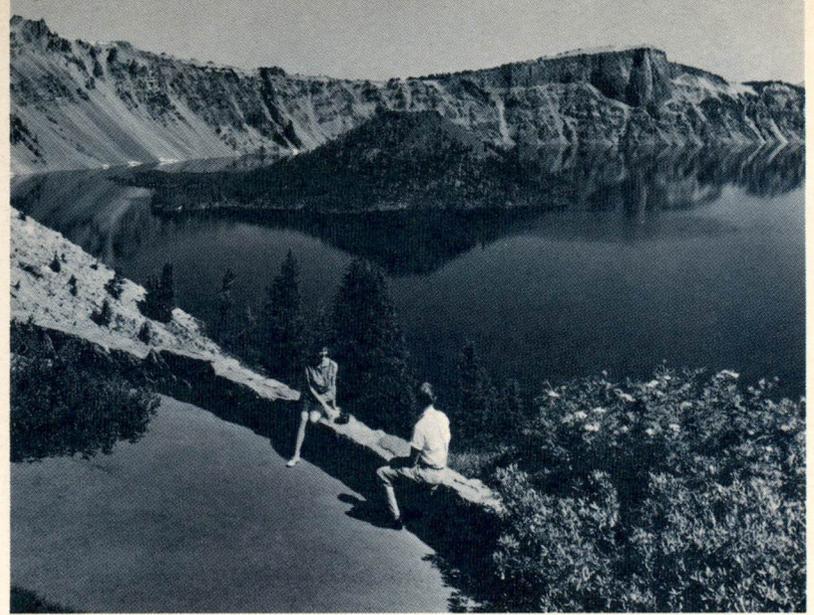

Abundant Wildlife

The abundance of wildlife in this part of the state includes antelope and deer. It also is a region teeming with waterfowl, and pelicans nest on Upper Klamath Lake. Small herds of wild horses still roam the area.

This also is where visiting Toastmasters and their families will find Weyerhaeuser Lumber Mill, the largest of its kind in the world, in Klamath Falls.

Northeastern Oregon is a region rich in pioneer and Indian history, vividly flavored with western color and natural wonders. Marks of the old Oregon Trail still are visible in this area. Other reminders of the past include ghost towns and sites where gold rushes once flourished.

This also is the land of great dams, vast national forest timber country, huge irrigation projects, broad wheat fields, plateau cattle ranches, logging, and mining.

To the north is southern Washington, a beautiful land of natural and man-made wonders. The southeastern corner of Washington is where the historic past meets visions of the future. Here are the world's first productive nuclear reactors.

East of Portland

About four hours east of Portland, visiting Toastmasters and their families can explore the famous Grande Ronde Canyon and the Snake River Gorge, deepest on the North American continent. Contrasting with the wilderness of the country, here also you can see the beautiful, golden, rolling hills of Washington's vast wheat-growing economy.

In south central Washington, only a few minutes' drive from Portland, you and your family can take advantage of a variety of activities and fun.

A Challenge

Here is where the visitor might be challenged by a kayak ride in the white waters of the Cle Elum River at Salmon La Sac, or you can relax at campside along the American River in Chinook Pass by Highway 410, which opens one of the finest of all views of Mt. Rainier. Nearby, there also are several attractive guest ranches which offer trail rides, Cascade breakfasts, and rangeland campfires.

Just across the Columbia River from Portland is the City of Vancouver, the gateway to exciting southwestern Washington. You can stand where Captains Lewis and Clark stood in 1805, looking westward over the Pacific Ocean, by visiting historic Chinook and Fort Canby.

The Entire Family

The 1970 International convention in Portland, August 10-13, truly offers Toastmasters and their families a surrounding wonderland of excitement and fun for young and old alike.

In this case, "Success Is . . ." taking advantage of the many opportunities open to you and your family in Portland at the 39th International convention. Make your reservations early and plan to spend your vacation in this beautiful country.

Low Cost Tours

If you intend to fly to Portland, many low-cost tours are available from this central location.

Driving time to Portland is short. Automobile driving time to Portland from New York is 60 to 65 hours; from Chicago or Dallas, 44 to 50 hours; from Denver and Phoenix, 25 to 27 hours; and from Los Angeles, about 17 hours.

Fly, take the train or bus, or drive your own automobile, but make your plans now to attend the convention!

A Convention Invitation For Toastmasters Wives

Dear Mrs. Toastmaster,

Wouldn't you really like to take a different and exciting fun vacation this year? Then come along with your Toastmaster/husband to Portland, Oregon, for the 39th Toastmasters International convention, August 10-13!

For your husband it's a convention, but for you it will be a wonderful holiday in the great Pacific Northwest. The wives of convention Host District 7 Toastmasters hope that you will join us at least for the four days of the convention, which will be held in the luxurious Portland Hilton Hotel.

If you have never attended a Toastmasters convention, this year's is one you surely won't want to miss. If you have attended previous conventions then you know that many special activities are planned just for us, and you know how much fun Toastmasters' wives have when they get together.

Attending the convention is fun! Our men always treat us like special guests, and we are the center of attention at the Toastmasters social "happenings."

You will want to attend as many of the convention programs and dinner events as you can, but there are also many other interesting and colorful activities for you to enjoy in and around Portland — Oregon's beautiful City of Roses.

If you can, arrive early. You won't want to miss our Sunday night Proxy Prowl, the pre-convention social event that will set the pace for the Monday-through-Thursday convention.

A "Success Coffee" is scheduled for you Monday morning, and you are welcome at the convention's opening ceremony, the District Governors' Luncheon, and an awards presentation program. If your husband is participating in any of these opening-day events, you will certainly want to be on hand!

Monday night will be your chance to enjoy a night on the town. Many Toastmasters couples already are planning to dine out together; it makes the evening a real "party" occasion.

Tuesday will be a business day for your husband, but you may spend the day with other Toastmasters' wives taking one of the optional tours that have been arranged for us: a Columbia River-Booneville Dam tour, a Pittock Mansion and Japanese Gardens tour. Of course, you can laze away the day at the Portland Hilton Hotel's swimming pool, if that's more to your liking.

Tuesday's big social event will be the "Frontier Western Whirl," and you and your husband are invited to dress in the Western frontier style for this fun-packed evening. The New Oregon Singers and Jerry VanHoomissen's Combo will entertain you.

Our husbands will be busy attending educational programs on Wednesday, so the ladies can get together for shopping, touring, swimming, or just visiting. There will be plenty to do, but we will have to save some of our energy for the Wednesday night President's Dinner Dance. This is the convention's annual "formal affair," and you may wear a formal gown or cocktail dress. The Jerry VanHoomissen Orchestra will provide us dance music late into the night, and a delicious meal will be served.

Thursday will seem to dawn very quickly after your late night dancing Wednesday evening, but the International speech contest speakers always look forward to seeing our faces in the audience. The speech contest and the presentation of many of the year's highest awards will be featured at the Thursday morning Hall of Fame breakfast.

Before you know it, the convention will be over. Don't forget to ask your husband to take you along on the post-convention tour to Hawaii! This Toastmasters-only tour leaves Portland on Friday, August 14, and it will be a terrific climax to your week's vacation in the great Pacific Northwest.

Do plan to come to the Toastmasters International convention, August 10-13, in Portland, Oregon. We'll be looking for you!

Dena Kearton
Ann Miller.

HAWAII

Just A Few Hours From PORTLAND

After attending your 1970 TI convention in Portland, Ore., August 10-13, Toastmasters and their families have the opportunity of a lifetime — to visit Hawaii on a post-convention tour.

The post-convention tour arrangements were made by Churchill Tours, Inc., of Portland specifically for Toastmasters and their families, and the tour is available only to Toastmasters.

Flight plans, accommodations and transportation on the island, and three itineraries have been made ready for you. Make your reservations as soon as possible. The deadline is three weeks prior to the August 14 departure.

The three Hawaii itineraries offer you a variety of tour opportunities, and there are nine optional tours available at extra cost.

The first itinerary, at a cost of $298.00 per person, features seven days and six nights in Honolulu. Accommodations for the week of fun and excitement have been made at the Waikiki Holiday Inn.

On To Honolulu

You and your fellow Toastmasters will leave Portland and arrive at the Honolulu International Airport Friday, August 14. You will be greeted in the traditional Hawaiian fashion, transported to your hotel, and have the balance of the day to leisurely acquaint yourself with the magical wonder of this world-famous vacation resort.

On Saturday you and your family will discover the lofty, wonder-filled world of luxury living and lazy loafing surrounded by breathtaking views of ever-blue sea, lush green mountains, and golden beaches.

On Sunday, attend the church services of your choice and then take advantage of a guided tour of the ancient Kawaiahaeo Church established in 1820.

On The Beach

Monday is your day to bask on one of Hawaii's endless beaches, swim in the surf, or go inland to dig a few divots on some of the most beautiful golf courses in the world. Or, you can go sightseeing among the jagged peaks, gaping craters, blue-green lagoons, and fragrant blossoms.

On Tuesday, August 18, you and your family can enjoy another day of leisure.

You may visit the beaches again on Wednesday or spend relaxing hours browsing through the fashionable Kala-kaua shopping district and the world-famous International Market Place.

On Thursday, August 20, your tour group bids an "alo-ha" farewell to the beautiful islands.

Vacationing Toastmasters who choose to stay for the second itinerary will not return to Portland. Instead, they will be escorted to the Inter-Island Airport for an early morning flight to the island of Kauai.

The second itinerary, available for an additional $208.00 per person, is an extension of the first itinerary and offers you and your family tours of the outer islands of Kauai, Maui, and Hawaii. Here is your opportunity to become fully acquainted with the islands of the state of Hawaii.

This itinerary offers two nights on the island of Kauai, the "Garden Isle," where the mood is relaxed and gentle but hearts quicken with the treasure of its scenic beauty.

Leisure Hours

Your two-night stay at the luxurious Kauai Resorts Hotel will be liberally laced with sightseeing tours of this beautiful island. You will see Waimea Canyon, Hanalei Valley, Kalalau Lookout, the Fern Grotto, and many other points of interest.

A short flight takes you to the island of Maui where you have accommodations at the Sheraton Maui for the night. Here you will re-live the days of whaling ships in old Lahaina and enjoy the green quiet of Iao Valley. Ample time is set aside for you to relax on beautiful Kaanapali Beach.

You and your family begin the fourth day of your outer island adventure with a short flight to Kona, on the island of Hawaii. This island is a continent in miniature, with all the compelling contrasts of tropic beaches and snow-capped peaks, sparse cattle lands and green sugar fields.

Sightseeing Tours

A variety of tours are offered on this island Sunday and Monday, August 23-24: the Black Sand Beach at Punahoa, the Hawaii National Park, the lovely Volcano House, and Rainbow Falls.

Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning have been set aside for your leisurely activities — shopping or sunbathing on the beach at Hilo Bay. There will be a mid-day transfer Tuesday to the Hilo Airport for your return flight to the mainland.

The third itinerary, available to Toastmasters for $395.00 per person, is a seven-day, six-night combination of the first and second itineraries, except for the visit to the island of Hawaii.

This trip combines the excitement of three days in Honolulu and a visit to the outer islands of Kauai and Maui.

Two additional sightseeing tours are included in your post-convention tour package: the Pearl Harbor Cruise and the Circle Island Tour of Oahu.

The Pearl Harbor Cruise

leaves from Kewalo Basin. You will board a beautiful vessel for a cruise along the Honolulu shoreline to Pearl Harbor. You will see the naval air station, Ford Island, Battleship Row, Hickam Field, and the sunken U.S.S. Arizona and the U.S.S. Utah.

The Circle Island Tour of Oahu is a drive to the scenic highlights on this beautiful island. You will see the Mormon Tabernacle, Washington Place (the governor's residence and former mansion of Queen Liliuokalani), the Buddhist Temple, Pearl Harbor, Sunset Beach, and many others.

Choose the itinerary best suited to you and your time schedule, and join your fellow Toastmasters when they leave Portland on Friday, August 14, bound for Hawaii.

Plan now for you and your family to attend your 39th International convention in Portland, and then take a dream vacation on the Toastmasters post-convention tour.

SPECIAL POST-CONVENTION TOUR SAVINGS! —REDUCED AIR FARES FOR TOASTMASTERS—

Midwest and East Coast Toastmasters who attend the International convention in Portland and join the post-convention tour to Hawaii are eligible for specially reduced, round trip air fares as part of the post-convention tour package provided for Toastmasters-only by Churchill Tours, Inc., Portland.

This "tour basing fare" allows you and your family to travel round trip from your hometown to Honolulu with a stopover in Portland. The total round trip air fare is substantially less than the official, published tariff.

There are many regulations on this package, but three particularly involve Toastmasters:

1. All travel must be completed within 21 days of departure from your hometown.
2. Travel over the continental U.S. is not permitted between 3:00 p.m. Friday and 12:01 a.m. Monday.
3. A minimum of $70.00 per person in prepaid tour arrangements is required, not including air fare.

Here are three examples showing the difference between regular arrangements and the "tour basing fare:"

FROM ATLANTA with "tour basing fare:"

Air fare: $329.00
Ground arrangements: $113.00
Total cost: $442.00 plus tax

FROM ATLANTA without "tour basing fare:"

Air fare: $254.00 (to Portland, round trip)
Post-convention tour: $298.00 (Portland to Hawaii, round trip)
Total cost: $552.00 plus tax

FROM PITTSBURGH with "tour basing fare:"

Air fare: $352.00
Ground arrangements: $113.00
Total cost: $465.00 plus tax

FROM PITTSBURGH without "tour basing fare:"

Air fare: $252.00 (to Portland, round trip)
Post-convention tour: $298.00 (Portland to Hawaii, round trip)
Total cost: $550.00 plus tax

You may obtain further details about the "tour basing fares" from other cities by contacting Churchill Tours, Inc., 1618 S.W. First Ave., Portland, Ore. Telephone: (503) 224-3776.

Women Notice Toastmasters (training)

By JOHN Y.C. MOW, ATM

Toastmasters training counts!

Listen to this, Toastmasters' wives. Have you noticed any change in your husband since he became a Toastmaster? You should. It's a change for the better. However the change appeared, just listen to what a Hawaiian Toastmasters' wife said about her husband.

"Before S.H. became a Toastmaster," said Agnes, "he was very shy and a man of few words. He seldom took part in church activities and events. He did not concern himself with his son's extracurricular activities.

"But, after being a Toastmaster for a year, his personality has changed from good to better! He has developed self-confidence. His positive attitude attained through Toastmasters training has helped him in his work as a high school teacher.

"He is . . . sold on Toastmasters as the best medium for self-improvement. He enthusiastically encourages his associates and friends to join his Toastmasters club.

"Now, he is very active in church functions. He takes greater interest in his son's activities; they work and play together as close friends.

"This transition from good to better is a wife's dream come true. I am grateful for what Toastmasters training has done for my husband. I sincerely hope other Toastmasters' wives are as lucky as I am."

This informal discussion occurred at one of the many ladies' nights of MCAFAN Club 737-49 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Most Toastmasters' wives eagerly anticipate these socializing events.

It's Amazing

It's amazing what Toastmasters training can do for a man! It not only improves his personality, but it also influences his family activities. Here are some remarks from another Hawaiian Toastmaster's wife:

"It took John a while before deciding to join a Toastmasters club. It was at the time when we were living in Napa, California. Of course, John heard about Toastmasters a few years before from a visiting Hawaiian Toastmaster when we were living in South San Francisco. The Hawaiian Toastmaster was so enthusiastic about Toastmasters that part of his enthusiasm rubbed off on John. Consequently, when the opportunity presented itself, John willingly became a Toastmaster.

"However," said Joanna, "John became more involved in Toastmasters soon after we returned to Honolulu. It was through the influence of John Mow (ATM) that John decided to transfer his membership to MCAFAN Club.

"As you might guess, John Mow is the same Hawaiian who visited us in San Francisco. His influence over John, regarding Toastmasters, surely caught on like wild fire.

The TI Bug

"Our entire family is somehow infected with the Toastmasters 'bug,' and Toastmasters has become a household word for all of us. John is so enthusiastic about Toastmasters that he recruited his brother, his stepfather, and our 18-year-old son.

John Agard's goal is to achieve success through effective oral communication. He has found the answer in Toastmasters training. Following a recent promotion, Toastmaster Agard made this testimonial statement: "Toastmasters training is directly responsible for my advancement."

Toastmaster Agard, club president, has established progress and achievement so outstanding that his club recognized him with its Toastmaster of the Year award.

Whatever influence Toastmasters training might have on you greatly depends upon the quality of your club leadership. If Toastmasters training produces good results, it is because your club officers planned it that way.

If this training fails to change Toastmasters from good to better, the club officers have only to look in a mirror to identify the persons responsible.

The Opportunity

Club officers have an opportunity to pave the way for members to successfully develop their communication and leadership abilities. One method is to relate Toastmasters training to members' social and egoistic needs.

The recognition by a Toastmaster's wife of her husband's better qualities is only part of the satisfaction earned when Toastmasters training is successfully applied. Consider these other five points:

1. Self-development: It is said that a happy man is one who makes the most of his talents and abilities.

Not everyone is aware of the extent of his own talents and abilities, but as a person is helped to attain self-development he will respond in many ways.

2. Performance: Since a person usually wants to perform well, the leader's job is to help him attain excellence. This means working together toward the club's standard of excellence.

3. Usefulness: Being useful means making a significant contribution. The importance of usefulness exists at all levels. Club officers contribute, in part, by giving their fellow club members a sense of usefulness in the Toastmasters training program.

4. Respect: Toastmasters training produces a responsible adult, ready, willing, and able to take his place in the group. When one is respected as a valued member, he senses the true meaning of dignity.

5. Self-fulfillment: Both social and egoistic goals need recognition. Self-interest is the proper goal of all human actions.

A Quality Club

Remember that quality leadership in your club, combined with the Toastmasters training, will produce a standard of excellence that will meet all the needs of your fellow club members — not only the social and egoistic needs, but the entire package for the proper development of your communication and leadership abilities.

When they are added together, there is a lot in it for every member. The total program derives not only recognition from Toastmasters' wives, but also community awareness and recognition of your club for its efforts to improve man's communication and leadership abilities.

Just being a Toastmaster and having knowledge of the benefits of Toastmasters training is not enough. We must exercise our abilities within the program. Then, not only will women recognize Toastmasters but your entire community will recognize you and your club.

ROME, NEW YORK

Toastmasters Town Of The Month

ROME, NEW YORK, is a romantic little city that sits in the center of the State of New York as a monument not only to history, but also to progress — present and future.

Because of its location, Rome was a key factor during the American Revolutionary War, and later on July 4, 1817—due to the same quirk of geography — the starting point of the Erie Canal which developed into a major east-west transportation system.

With a current population of about 52,000, Rome sits at the foot of the Adirondack Mountains, central to every population center in the northeast.

Rome was founded shortly after the Revolutionary War as a small rural farm village. It would have developed much the same as any other village, but for its strategic location as the only low-level westward passage south of the St. Lawrence River and north of Georgia.

Since its beginning Rome has seen the rise and fall of various industries. It was the world center for factory-processed cheese in the mid-19th century.

But industry has grown and thrived in Rome. Rome economy still relies on the metal trades that started early in the city's history. It is the home of Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., headquarters. The Revere rolling mills in Rome are the largest and most modern in the free world.

This is the home of Rome Club 1271-34, which recently celebrated its 17th anniversary. There also is Officers Club 2151-34 at nearby Griffiss Air Force Base.
